WHO IS DEBBIE?

ABOUT ME

I am an actress and comedian, born in Buenos Aires and living in London for the past 12 years.

My training in Dramatic Arts in Buenos Aires was the starting point for a journey filled with stories, laughter, and the stage.

In London, I have combined my passion for acting with stand-up comedy, bringing everyday experiences to life with a sharp edge and a multicultural perspective.

Throughout my career, I have performed in theatre productions, created digital content, and developed projects that explore themes such as identity, migration, and human relationships—with both humour and sensitivity.

When I'm not on stage, I dedicate myself to creating content on social media, always believing that a good story—told with honesty and humour—can brighten any day.

STAND-UP COMEDY

Since 2020, I have been studying stand-up comedy to pursue a career in comedy in London.

This journey has allowed me to develop my comedic voice, write my monologues, and bring to the stage a solo show that blends personal experiences with a sharp and ironic take on everyday life.

My stand-up solo show takes the audience on a journey—filled with humour and a touch of nostalgia—through the different stages, I experienced when moving from Buenos Aires to London.

From the hopes and misunderstandings of a newcomer to cultural surprises and the challenges of adapting to a new life, I share anecdotes that blend the feeling of displacement, the small victories of an immigrant, and the absurd situations that only make sense when you start over in a new country.

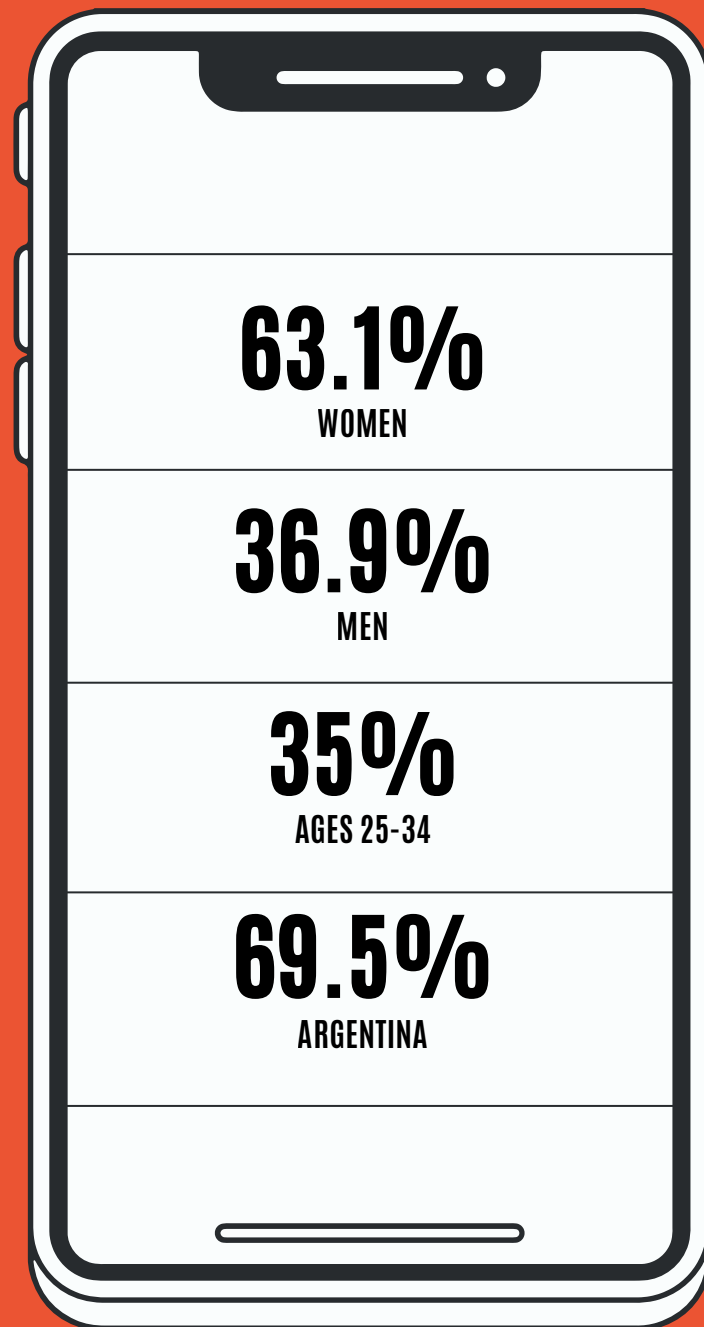

I have had the opportunity to perform my show in various cities worldwide, including Buenos Aires, New York, and Madrid, bringing my comedy to diverse, multicultural audiences.

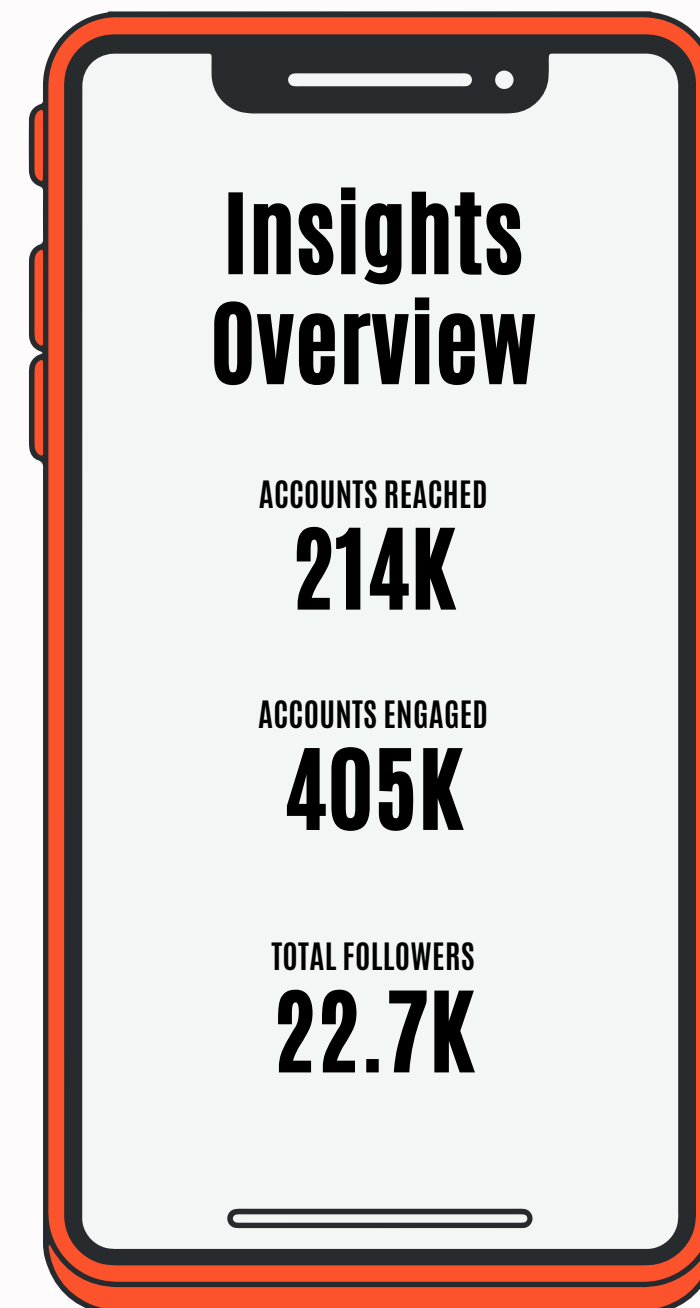

In addition, in London, I have supported major Latin American stand-up comedians during their international tours. This experience has allowed me to share the stage with established artists in the comedy scene and continue developing my craft while connecting with wider audiences.
